

WELCOME TO AALBORG

The 10th IC1004 MC and Scientific Meeting will take place in Aalborg, Denmark on May 26-28, 2014.

Aalborg has a lot to offer. Not only if you would like to go shopping but also if you would like to take part in Aalborg's many cultural events. At Aalborg's new waterfront, you have the option of eating well while you follow the life on the Limfjord. Please visit: <http://www.visitaalborg.com/ln-int/aalborg/city-life> for more information about Aalborg.

Currency

The Danish currency is Danish Kroner (DKK) and 1 EUR is approximately 7.50 DKK

Power supply in Denmark

The electric power supply in Denmark is 230V. Electric plugs have two round pins as shown in the picture below.

Electrical outlets in Denmark use a two-prong plug typical for continental Europe. As Denmark strays from the Scandinavian norm, make sure the adapter you buy is suitable especially for Denmark (some outlets are deeper than European standard.) Look for plug types C, F, or K, they have the correct size of two round prongs. Pls. see photo below.

Weather and Climate

Many jokes are told about the Danish weather. One of them is about a foreign visitor who writes home that there are two seasons in Denmark, a green one and a grey one. The green one is the worst, he writes, because then the Danes turn off the heat!

The truth is, however, that the Danish weather is neither worse nor better than in any other Northern European country. Spring comes in April, and June, July and August are usually the warmest months with an average temperature of 22 °C. There are quite a lot of beautiful sunny days during the summer, and often, the temperature is above 22 °C.
